Excerpt from Gildas, the Ruin of Britain: Fragments From Lost Letters, the Penitential, Together With the Lorica of Gildas Church. The gold hath become dim, its best colour changed; which Lamnt iv. 1. Means the excellence of God s word. The sons of Zion, that is, of Lament. 1m. 5. The holy mother the Church, famous and clothed with best gold have to embraced ordure. What to him, a man of eminence, grew unbear able, has been so to me also, mean as I am, whenever it grew to be the height of grief, whilst he wailed over the same distinguished men living in prosperity so far as to say: her Nazarenes were Lament. Iv. 7. Whiter than snow, ruddier than old coral, fairer than sapphire. 15 These passages and many others I regarded as, in a way, a mirror of our life, in the Scriptures of the Old Testament, and then I turned to the Scriptures of the New; there I read things that previously had perhaps been dark to me, in clearer light, because the shadow passed away, and the...
