

MATLAB for Machine Learning

By Giuseppe Ciaburro

Packt Publishing - ebooks Account. Paperback. Condition: New. 376 pages. Key Features Get your first steps into machine learning with the help of this easy-to-follow guide Learn regression, clustering, classification, predictive analytics, artificial neural networks and more with MATLAB Understand how your data works and identify hidden layers in the data with the power of machine learning. Book Description MATLAB is the language of choice for many researchers and mathematics experts for machine learning. This book will build foundation for machine learning using MATLAB for beginners. You will start off with getting your system ready with MATLAB environment for machine learning and you will learn how to easily interact with the Matlab workspace. You will then move on to data cleansing, mining and analyze various data types in machine learning and how to display data values on a plot. Following this, you will learn about the different types of regression techniques and how to apply them to your data using the MATLAB functions. You will also learn to explore classification techniques such as K-nearest neighbor analysis, Naive Bayes algorithm and understand decision tree and rules learners. After this, you will dive into unsupervised learning and find groups of data with clustering methods like k-means...
